Sports NGO wins Social Impact Award

Gets it in outstanding volunteer category

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT
HYDERABAD

It is a rare honour for the city-based Sports Coaching Foundation (SCF) to be selected among top three non-government organisations (NGOs) for Social Impact Awards 2017 to be presented at Bangkok by this month-end. The SCF, located at Masab tank, has been named as one of the best three NGOs in the world under the 'Outstanding Volunteer' category. The award ceremony at Bangkok is being organised by The Resource Alliance, a leading London-based NGO.

SCF was founded by former Ranji player K. Sai Baba more than 25 years ago on what was originally a garbage dumping yard in coordination with the then MCH, now GHMC. It has been one of the few sports NGOs which has sustained for long and has been widely appreciated across the country.

In the past, SCF has received the President of India award in 2015 for social change, and has been finalist at Monte Carlo at Monaco for the Peace and Sports Forum in 2016.

SCF continues to work in sensitive localities using sports as a tool for social reconstruction especially amongst the underprivileged sections of the society, in government schools, and at juvenile homes.

The flagship project of SCF - Build India Through Sports (BITS) - has shown results and is widely appreciated by many critics as it teaches skills like behaviour, character building, and spirit of giving back to the society through sports.

"We have been tirelessly pursuing this passion despite many hurdles," said Sai Baba.

SCF in top 3 NGOs for Social Impact

HYDERABAD: Sports Coaching Foundation has been selected for Social Impact Awards 2017, under the 'Outstanding Volunteer' category. The event will be held in Bangkok, Thailand from 26-28 June. SCF is the most awarded sports NGO in the country, and has received President of India Award for social change in 2015. SCF was founded by former Andhra Ranji player K. Saibaba 25 years ago.

A befitting honour

Intl Social Impact honour for SCF

OUR BUREAU

Hyderabad: Multiple award winning Sports NGO, the city-based Sports Coaching Foundation (SCF) added another global feather to its cap with a coveted honour coming its way.

In what comes as a major recognition for its work to make the life of the less and underprivileged lot, more meaningful, the Foundation has been conferred with the International Social Impact Award-2017 in the 'Outstanding Volunteer Category' at Bangkok.

The award has been instituted jointly by Resource Alliance (London) and Rockefeller Foundation (USA).

Beaming with delight on his return from Thailand after receiving the award, SCF founder-Secretary K Saibaba told reporters here on Saturday that this recognition added to their responsibility, which they would, nonetheless, take up with equal dedication.

He said it was matter of immense satisfaction that the function was graced by senior officials from UNO, who appreciated the work they, and those others who were in contention for the award, were rendering as a societal responsibility.

Speaking on the occasion, P Muralikrishna, Additional Commissioner of Police (Admin), praised Saibaba for taking up such a noble task and helping the cause of the downtrodden. He appealed to likeminded people to pursue such initiatives so that the economically deprived classes could afford a smile or two.

Saibaba urged philanthropists to come on board as partners to the SCF initiative 'Build India through Sports' in order to tap talent at the grass-root level and those in the interiors who were denied any such platforms.

City-based NGO Sports Coaching Foundation (SCF), which is working towards the better society in schools and for underprivileged children through its sports initiative Build India Through Sports (BITS), got the international award constituted by The Rockefeller Foundation in association with The Resource Alliance and IFC in the 'International Social Impact Award' category.

The founder secretary K Saibaba received the award at a function in Bangkok recently.

Speaking about the award, Saibaba said that the award is the result of the hard work they put in over the years. "Our main motto is to see a better society. Sport is the cheapest medicine for all. We took this BITS initiative to all schools across the country. So far, we have reached over a lakh students, especially in government schools, through the programme. We collaborate and provide infrastructure at the school and encourage teachers to promote sports," he added. The SCF will conduct minimum 30 free entry tournaments at its premises in Masab Tank every year.

"The tournaments will be conducted for the underprivileged children and schools in cricket, tennis, basketball, football and volleyball. India has a great potential and what we need is infrastructure and awareness," he added.

Saibaba also asked the corporates to become a part of the movement through Corporate Social Responsibility activities. "We need lot of infrastructure. There are many schools without a ground," he said, adding the SCF works with schools and recycle the infrastructure available to make it usable.

The NGOs across the globe competed for the top honours in the category and three NGOs - SCF, Philanthrope from Pakistan and Udayan Care from India - were in the fray. This is the first international award for the SCF while it got eight national awards. Hyderabad City Police additional commissioner T Murali Krishna felicitated Saibaba for winning the award.
