Police tap IPL craze to ensure communal harmony

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

Hyderabad: The city police seem to have found a novel way to tackle the problem of communal differences. The West Zone cops sought to tap the IPL-induced cricket craze by conducting a cricket tournament for locals of the 'communally sensitive' First Lancer areas to secure harmony.

Police organized a four-day cricket tournament in First Lancer (near Masab Tank) from May 14 till May 18. Sixty-four teams from different localities including far flung areas like Falaknuma participated. Of these, 14 teams from First Lancer played in the tournament. The matches were held at Idgah ground, First Lancer, Sport Coaching Foundation, Masab Tank and the hockey ground at Masab Tank.

According to P Madhukar Swamy, inspector of Humayun Nagar police station, mixed population neighborhoods in First Lancer like Nehru Nagar, Pochamma Basti and MG Nagar witness communal incidents even if mildest of the disturbances are reported in other parts of the city. This alleged ripple effect is often exploited by miscreants who make even petty issues like sharing of common resources, a cause for quarrels. Pointing out that there was palpable unrest in the wake of recent communal clashes in Saidabad-Madannapet, he said that by engaging the youth from these 'communally sensitive' neighborhoods in sports, the cops have tried to keep a check on the situation.

And how does cricket serve the purpose? By forming teams comprising all communities, replied Swamy. "Each team had a balanced representation from all the major communities. Cricket provides an atmosphere for close interaction among youngsters, helping them understand people from other faiths. Besides those who played, even the audiences which turned up in large numbers seemed to have got the message," he said.

He further added that the police also used the opportunity to deliver messages against addiction, child labor and other social evils by putting up flex boards and posters at the grounds.
