Football pitching machine a bonus

HYDERABAD

For the young trainees at the Sports Coaching Foundation (SCF), it was a great experience to face the recently-launched digital football pitching machine to be used in imparting basic skills.

SCF founder-secretary and former Andhra Ranji cricketer K. Sai Baba, who was also the second in India to have installed an electronic bowling machine (cricket) way back in the early 90s and organised flood-lit cricket at the local level in twin cities, said that the objective was to ensure that young talent had a different feel during training sessions, thanks to the excitement with the new machine.

"The trainees will be fed depending on their needs.

For instance, if someone is aiming perfect headers, he will be fed accordingly from the machine at the desired speed," he said.

"Essentially, it should be more helpful for goalkeepers, as the direction of the ball at the designated speed can be controlled by making them dive in anticipation and be better custodians under the bar," he added.

"We have been trying to adapt to the changing techniques, technology and demands to make sports training at our facility more exciting and challenging," said Sai Baba.

"It is not just the SCF trainees who will be benefited. Hundreds of government school students and those from orphanages, where we regularly conduct coaching camps, are being helped," he said.

Former Ranji Trophy cricketer and founding secretary of SCF K. Saibaba informed the 32-year-old sports NGO had also imported the first ever electronic cricket bowling machine back in 1993 and introduced the first flood-lit project for the Col C. K. Nayudu mini stadium in 1994. Under its flagship project 'Build India Through Sports' SCF has trained several youngsters from more than 350 government schools and orphanage homes across the country so far.
