Sports brings cheer to slum kids

OUR BUREAU

To hundreds of boys and girls from government schools in the twin cities, Saturday was a day to remember for a long time.

More than their participation what caught the eye was their enthusiasm to excel in their respective category during the Dr BR Ambedkar inter-slum junior multi-sport event-2016 that was sponsored and organised by Sports Coaching Foundation (SCF) in their Masab Tank complex.

Around 1,500 under-privileged children drawn from a dozen government schools gave their best shot at glory, a cheerfulness that drew the applause of two national award winning personalities.

JD Lakshminarayana, a President's Police Medal awardee and currently Additional Director General of Police, Maharashtra, called upon the children to take an avid interest in both academics and sports. He singled out K Saibaba, founder-Secretary of SCF, for rendering yeomen service that was helping the poorer lot to parade their talents.

In his inaugural speech, Padmashri Narra

Ravi Kumar, who champions the cause of Dalits and underprivileged classes and works for their empowerment on his DICCI platform, said it was an occasion that was worth the effort put in by Saibaba.

The Foundation head, a former Ranji Trophy cricketer, reassured to extend his reach and spread into the remotest corners.

Flash back memories (1996) 21 years back the British journalist Emma Levine release the book titled "Cricket a kind of pilgrimage" printed at Hong Kong, written about the good story of Sports Coaching Foundation, Hyderabad.

CRICKET A KIND OF PILGRIMAGE, A Cricket Book,

Written By : EMMA LEVINE, A British Sports Journalist

Abstract from pages 116, 117, 118 & 119

CRICKET

A KIND OF PILGRIMAGE

Printed in the year 1996

During her travels through the Indian subcontinent Emma Levine was interrogated by the Liberation Tigers of Tamil Eelam who could not comprehend why a young female English photographer had made a twenty-four hour journey by various modes of transport from Colombo to their headquarters in war-torn Jaffna to photograph a cricket match.

Nor could a Sikh understand why she could possibly want to photograph a cricket ground at 2,444 metres at the hill-station village of Chail in the foothills of the Himalaya in the middle of winter.

In Pakistan she travelled to the village of Akora Khuttak in the North West Frontier Province in Pakistan where Afghan refugees have taken up the game of cricket with great enthusiasm and to Darra Adam Khel, a tribal village more infamous for the production and smuggling of AK-47s and Kalashnikovs.

She also photographed cricket being played in the searing heat of the Rajasthan desert watched only by a passing camel and its owner.

All of this and more is contained in this unique book covering all the varied forms of cricket that have developed in the Indian subcontinent.

Born into a cricket-loving family in Bradford, Yorkshire in 1969, Emma Levine was taught the difference between silly mid-off and deep square leg at a very early age.

After graduating as a Graphic Designer in 1991 from Nottingham and falling in love with photography Emma left England for adventure in Asia and has never looked back.

Emma has been based in Hong Kong since 1992 where she freelances as a photographer and writer for newspapers, magazines and television in Asia. She has travelled extensively covering features on Iran, Cambodia, Bangladesh and the Indian subcontinent.

In 1993 she travelled with the English cricket team during their tour of India and Sri Lanka and her exhibition of photographs entitled "Height of Passion" held in Hong Kong captured brilliantly the subcontinent's obsession for cricket.

Cricket, A Kind of Pilgrimage is her first book.

Cricket coaching has entered into a new era. The early 1990s have seen an increase in coaching facilities and well-equipped academies are being opened. One such example is the Sports Coaching Foundation in Hyderabad. Only founded in 1994, it has answered the need for more high-tech facilities; it contains the only bowling machine in India - a device imported from America originally designed for baseball batting practice and can hurl the ball at a maximum speed of 185 kph. It also has floodlights, dual-coloured sightscreens and astroturf. Twelve coaches, six of whom are Ranji players, supervise each session whilst sports psychologists and nutritional experts ensure that each child receives an all-round education about health and fitness. A game-planning board, a scaled-down model of a playing field, using wooden models and plastic chips to help youngsters develop an appreciation of the game. Serious training, and far more than just broken nets in a goat-field... Sai Baba, the brains behind the academy, has invested time, money and total commitment in setting up his brainchild.

Its purpose is to train boys and girls between the ages of 6 and 16 in the fundamentals of the game. Emphasis is placed not only on learning the technicalities and skills but also to teaching a correct approach which ensures and understanding of the game in all its aspects. Such an approach commands a more professional attitude. A serious foundation built in a professional manner, taking the game - and the money it commands - very seriously.

One boy starts off young (top) Emphasis is placed on technique and repetitive practice (above) Both at the Sports Coaching Foundation in Chacha Nehru Park, Hyderabad.

It is generally unusual for any emphasis to be given to coaching girls, unlike these local orphaned girls who are given free coaching at the MCH Sports Coaching Foundation in Hyderabad.

Why is it important to Participate in Sports?

1. Education without sports is incomplete.
2. Did you know that India is the Olympic Capital of the world? Note that involvement in Sports is the Olympic mission.
3. Sports, including games like Football, Basketball, Badminton, Gymnastics and Sportsman Spirit, it plays a big role in building Character.
4. Through Sports, you can develop and eventually master the art of planning and execution, in a practical manner.
5. Every Sport has a set of rules and every participant needs to be aware and work around these rules and accordingly accommodate with the situation. This increases the awareness level and confidence of the participant.
6. Sports develops Logical, Critical Thinking and Analytical skills in you as the most practical manner.
7. Sports is not just a word but a "Nerve Key to the Success". Such an attitude helps them to overcome obstacles in life.
8. Participation in Sports develops Leadership and Self-Confidence, which is very helpful to them to think independently without fear, but with confidence.
9. Involvement in Sports should be a way of life. Since this is a Disability Nation, it should also be a healthy nation.
10. Mr. Bhaichand Uthappa, even at the age of 30 years plays Basketball & takes an hour off from his extremely busy schedule to meet SC and athletes.
11. If every school in India is able to regularly organize sports events, sports will be their priority and help to transform the sporting image of India from a sleeping giant to "A Dream, Sporting Nation of the World".
12. Let us hope India can host the biggest and colorful sporting event, The Olympics.
